

A-Link™ Remote Linking

Design your home from anywhere in the World

AVID brings its design studio right to your desk top. With the exclusive A-Link™ collaboration system, you interact directly with AVID's design team from the comfort of your office or living room.

Anyone with an Internet connection, anywhere in the world, can watch their design come to life. Share ideas, make accurate decisions and even engage the drawing with your mouse - it is all part of the collaborative process you get with A-Link. Another value added program offered only at AVID.

Fast, accurate, collaborative

Combine the vision you have for your home design with the talents and knowledge of the AVID Design Team. That's the A-Link process. It's a better way to design your perfect house plan.

In the past, you had to visit a distant studio and sit for hours with a designer. But, A-Link eliminates those hassles and the "back-and-forth" communication run-around you get with other design firms. Sit down, log on and you are in direct communication with AVID from anywhere in the world.
