

Designer Direct™ Collaboration

Online Purchasing

Online plan warehouses are convenient sources for purchasing house plans.

But online plans have three things in common:

- You will need to change the plans to suit your needs.
- You will want to customize the plans to make them your own.
- You can't speak directly to the home designer.

Online Design - a better way.

No stock home plan is perfect. It may not fit on your lot, it may not meet certain building restrictions and it may not have all of the amenities you want. It may have a good price, but saving money up front will cost you dearly in the end.

AVID has designed the most efficient way of making your plans perfect. With Designer-Direct™, we put you in direct contact with our staff of skilled and talented home designers. There are no middle-men, administrators or back-and-forth messengers that relay your wants and needs to some back room designer. You can speak directly to our designer and collaborate with them on your particular requirements. Their skills and talents can suggest the best way to achieve your perfect plans and guide you to most efficient, cost effective and rewarding design. And, with A-Link™, AVID's exclusive remote linking system, you can interact with our designers from anywhere in the world.

There are many home plan libraries available online. Some are good and some are not so good. But, no online home design firm gives you the personal, local and direct service that AVID provides. Designer Direct is just one of those services that speeds the change and modification process in a simple and effective collaboration. Your home will last forever if you build it right and you'll enjoy it even more if you design it right. Be sure yours is the Perfect Plan™ - be sure your plan is designed by AVID.
